Call for Workshop Papers

Workshop:

New approaches to Product-Service Systems

Workshop Chairs:

Sergio Gusmeroli, Politecnico di Milano, Amir Pirayesh, INTEROP-VLab

You are cordially invited to participate to the Workshop “New approaches to Product-Service Systems” in the International Conference on Interoperability for Enterprise Systems and Applications I-ESA 2016. Since several years, I-ESA is the major event about Enterprise Interoperability and the official conference of Virtual Laboratory for Enterprise Interoperability (INTEROP-VLab) with the sponsorship of the International Federation for Information Processing (IFIP). Accepted and presented papers will be published by ISTE Publications UK.

Objectives

- To present new concepts, methods and IT tools to support Product-Service System (P-SS) in order to produce sustainable product-service solutions and to reduce the time-to-market.
- To discuss how to define and set-up a sound methodological framework for P-SS including definition of a service strategy and description of innovative P-S business models

Topics

- Product-Service business and industrial models
- Use of Future Internet tools to support a P-SS lifecycle, especially design and engineering
- How to preserve the specific characteristics of products and services in a value chain, without creating isolated and not interconnected walled gardens?
- How to reconcile Real World and Digital World in P-SS?
- How to consider both professional knowledge and crowd sentiments, trying to mediate extreme product-push and market-pull positions?

Paper submission

Papers abstracts must be in English, describes original work and must follow the ISTE guidelines for authors. Paper length should be 6 pages for a full paper and 4 pages for a short paper. The selection of the paper will be performed based on the abstract and not on the full paper.
